Satisfied With His Town As It Is. MANCHESTER, March 20, 1879.

Editors Dispatch: There is in view, or rather on foot, a plan proposing to annex Manchester to Richmond, the final solution of which will be of great interest and importance to the citizens of both cities. They who are so eagerly and earnestly pressing the matter before the public no doubt mean well. If it should be so that the two cities may be united, it might be the means of utilizing the immense water-power Manchester affords, and perhaps may redound to the future prosperity of our city. We have an immense water-power, capable of driving the machinery for all the manufactories in the State, that is, if properly applied. It seems strange, and remains a mystery to many, why it is that there has been The Commonwealth of Virginia-To the such a falling off in our industrial pursuits. If our city government could be managed (and it certainly ought) like it was in years past, and if those who had the administration of the government in hand would be guided by the same principles which actuated our forefathers, and use their utmost endeavors in promoting the prosperity of the city, the situation in a short while would be somewhat different. The voice of the mote from the place where the felony was people has not fully been beard concerning this subject. Some are for annexation, whilst others, to the contrary, are bitterly against it, and, like the writer, are fully on their oaths whether the said John E. contented with the present situation. We Poindexter be guilty of the felony aforesaid have controlled the welfare of our city for or not. And have then there the names of more than one hundred years, and when a the said persons and this writ. town it was in a flourishing condition. Surely if we were able then to manage it, it Hustings Court of the city of Richmond, he same as Quinine, and the COST LESS THAN is proof positive that it can again be done at the court-house, the 17th day of March, without the assistance of our sister city, and 1879, in the 103d year of our foundation. therefore I pronounce the annexation plan OCHILTREE. a humbug.

Menrico Politics.

RICHMOND, Va., March 20, 1879. Editors of Dispatch: The article in your paper of to-day about "Henrico-County Politics" seems to be misunderstood in some respects, as I have had many inquiries lowed to prepare his bill of exceptions. about it. Will you please say that the mass meeting at the court-house on the 14th of April will be for the purpose of electing were errors on face of venire facias. county and district superintendents, and otherwise perfecting the organization of the Conservative party for the spring campaign? Under Which Flag?

Gentle reader, are you a Conservative Have you beretofore worked with the grand old Conservative party? If so, are you prepared now to desert it and go over to the Mahone party? Why should you desert the Discharged. Conservative party? Has it not saved us from the miseries and unspeakable horrors of scalawag and carpet-bag rule, which has pillaged, desolated, and oppressed the cotton States to the point of ruin and desperation? Has it not protected your property from confiscation by oppressive taxation? Has it not protected you from the insults and degradation ineident to servile rule? What unspeakable blessings are these! Are you prepared to desert it and to go over to the Mahone party, which is beating for recruits from the Radical Republicans, and is ready to form an alliance with these Radicals, who have hitherto stood as organized political brigands to rob and ruin you under the forms of law? The Conservative party has hitherto saved you from this unmitigated curse. What has the Mahone party done for you? Nothing. It is only just now organized. For what useful purpose has it been organized? The impression is becoming general that it has been organized to promote the political fortunes of its leaders. Many readjusters all over the State refused to attend its convention for this reason. Some others who went to the convention, after looking over awbile, declined to take any part in it for the same reason. The leaders say that they want to adjust the State debt upon a basis of 3 per cent. for forty years. The entire Conservative party is prepared to adjust it upon a basis of 3 per cent. for ten years, 4 per cent. for twenty years, and 5 per cent. for ten years-making an average of 4 per cent. for forty years. If we can pay 3 per cent, for forty years, can't we pay it for ten? If we can pay 3 per cent. for ten years, will not the country grow up to a state of prosperity to pay just as easily 4 per cent. for the next twenty years thereafter, and 5 for the next ten thereafter? In thirty years will we not be as prosperous as we were before the war? Did we not pay 6 per cent. then? Is not the difference between these propositions too small to justify the breaking up of the Conservative party, and to expose us to the dangers of Radical rule and robbery, resulting from the disruption of the Conservative party? Under all the circumstances is it wise to abandon the Conservative party that has saved us from the ruin of Radical Republican rule, and go over to a new, untried party that is wooing and trying to bring over to it the Radicals? We cannot doubt what the good people will do .-Charlottesville Jeffersonian.

people would not seek after. Rev. A. E. Owen followed in a brief but earnest and effective speech, cordially endorsing the views expressed in the paper. General J. G. Field was the next speaker. He said that he would speak not as an American citizen, but as an American Baptist, when he cordially endorsed this Socicty and its work.
